Tyndale College and Seminary

2002-2003

Congratulations, Graduates, on the completion of this critical step in your life-plans for vocation and service.

One of the most important moments in your life is this period of undergraduate studies. While I know many of you view this educational experience as opening a door for vocational opportunities, it really is a time of building character, shaping one's worldview and coming to understand the place of Christ in your life.

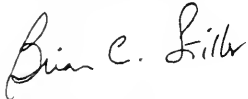

You will have many opportunities of upgrading your skills, refining your talents and honing the techniques required for vocational success. It is my hope, however, that this time at Tyndale has been about making you into the kind of person who is now better prepared to face life.

For much of my life I have been guided by this verse: King David in the rebuilding of the nation recruited a group from the tribe of Issachar whom the historian records, They had an understanding of the times and knew what Israel ought to do. Their ability to contribute to the development and management of the nation was predicated first on their ability to assess their surrounding world. It was on the basis of this skill that they could then lay out a strategy of action.

The effective servant learns to understand the wider horizon and then decide what it is that is important.

I'm proud of your hard work and commitment to completion. Now as you walk out into the world of opportunity, know that at all times and in all places the Lord walks with you. There is nothing in your life that passes His observation or interest. Not only is all of life the Lord's, but also He has given His life so that we might excel, walking in the light of His wisdom and grace.

Congratulations, and God's very best for you.

Brian C. Stiller
President

To see the journey the Graduates along with their class mates went through keep flipping the pages!

From beginning...to end...

and all the fun in between

Here's Tyndale's story in a nutshell lucky man

that's gotta hurt

people who should be studying and yes, he won

the frosh meat market, I mean bus stop

Tyndales finest

what were you doing at 3 am?

just goes to show, Chris, you're no Elijah

Frosh Week

wow! those guys really are good looking eh?!?!

"I wouldn't leave my daughter with him" mom, you really can't move in!

“Justin, isn’t this a blast?”

“come on guys, would Jesus loiter?”

fear factor?

before the stress begins

“Dana, do you think Dave wants your razor?”

“yeah guys, I totally think Chris is cool, but I won’t know for sure until the Wonderland trip”

Ira, Muskoka's on pages 7-8 that's not as big as the one armed man said it was!

Dave, everyone is looking at you!

"Should we lend Dave a razor?"

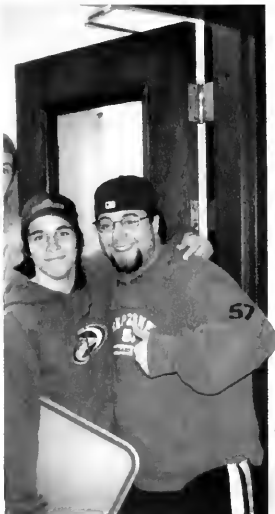

Charlie's Angels

Now let the semester begin!...

(and clean your nose while your at it!)

friendships are formed forever

Craigers, you got a long way to go to look like Patrick, but the ladies still love ya!

nothing like a good nap after a meal!

The fall arrives

and all the fun begins

Feeny's green with envy, are you?

our mommy dressed us!

I bet you always wondered where all the super heros ate to get their daily vitamins need we say more?

a rose between 2 Rachels

the cutest roommates

the best roommate ever

this is the 2002-03 yearbook, not the 1970 yearbook

Becka, try not to kill this tree!

Dorm fun

(senior style)

it's not like I made it when I was younger, but I you still can't come close to matching it Ethel!

"the Shawshank Redemption," part two, "when they are older"

once again the ra's helped relieve stress
through a great
dorm night, thanks!

A closer look at the rez...

...no words needed 19

...And their dorm events

look at those pipes, almost as big as Craigers

I guess we know who cut the cake!

Jessica, you were a
great ra and friend,
thankyou

“girls just wanna have fun”
oops, wrong singer

I guess people at shoppers now know
what we're really like

come on Elvis, shake
that pelvis

Now it's time for plain old school life

2 of the most encouraging ladies at Tyndale

true servants

come on Ted, smile like the girls

Aaron, one amazing man of God comparing yearbooks eh?

Pittman, you'll make one fine ra all I wanted was a picture of Lewis, and then outta no where his ladies show up and all this time I thought it was wheetes that made great athletes great teacher

and man of God

two great ladies who will be doing the yearbook next year (so if you didn't make it in this year, make sure you get them to take your picture next year!)

Bushey, all that needs to be said wanna know who won? turn to page 97

Al likes to play the sitar, while he's sitting

Come on girls, can't you just get along like the boys?

Betts, you have a great smile, just ask Lloyd, sorry Jay, maybe next yearbook you'll get a kiss

“no Princess, it’s all about the ‘Kingdom of God,’ not about your hair cut”

they’re not eating here, and apparently neither is Mark Clark

The first annual “Norwalk Christmas Banquet”

Janea and S-lo, you guys are so co' domino's anyone?

no fashion statements here (for some reason, still dateless)

G.S. White and friends

just before Ted proposed can you tell who dyed their hair?

a "Kodak Moment"

cute couple

a special thanks to George's family for allowing him to spend so much effort and time on us

the "Southern Generals"

the last picture before the norwalk virus broke out

Once again...SUDDEN IMPACT!

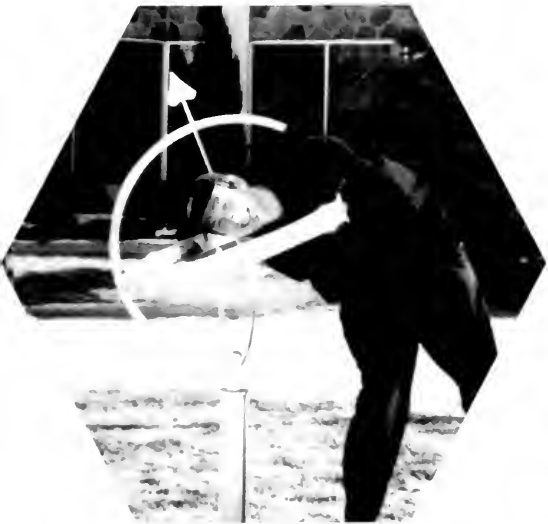

“if you wanna impress the girls, ye gotta learn how to fly!”

here's Rachel's lil'sis

where's a fire when you need one

if this doesn't leave a mark, I don't know what will

it's 4 AM, where's my COFFEE!?!

future Tyndale students

What you've all been waiting for, the sports pages

CHAMPS!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

just loosening up before the big win talk about getting air

feels great doesn't it?

boys you made us all proud (wait a second, isn't that a sin?)

the main man, coach Phil

Joe Millionaire and Bushey, two classy guys what are you looking at?

Another fine year of representing Tyndale on the hardwood floor isn't that the voice of the Raptors?

for those of you who weren't there, both shots went in

Koobsy, no need to grimace, you are the man

Tyndale hockey is growing a special thanks to Matt Lortie for coaching this year, you did a great job

the competition was stubbling to catch up look for Tyndale hockey next year in a league near you!

Now time for some intramural sports

the first annual Sportsmans Cup, west vs east

Hoffer's Hounds, the female Champions who did let the hounds out?

Sara Locke's girls (including Matt Lortie), great team dynamics and runners up

the staff were a great team and went undefeated, winning it all, but we don't have their picture, so we'll show you the crowd instead toilet bowl champions, for Matt Lortie, 2 years in a row

The Sweet-man's Address

The end of the school year is always bittersweet: on one hand we all look forward to the warmth, rest from study, and activities of the summer while graduates anticipate new beginnings, but on the other, endings are difficult - saying good-bye to friends, finding the always elusive summer job, bidding farewell to the stability and richness that life at Tyndale brings. It's like that for me too.

As much as I'm excited about a summer of vacation, baseball, and sun, I always feel a sense of regret and sorrow as I watch students pack up their rooms and move out for four months or for good. And yet, through all the good and bad, we can review the past eight months knowing that God has been with us every step of the way.

What always surprises me about academic years at Tyndale is the sheer speed of passing time. Wasn't it only yesterday that student leaders and frosh gathered for a retreat at Muskoka Woods? I still have vivid memories of the utter beauty of the Muskokas and God's wondrous creation, racing around the track with our cardboard and skateboard cars, singing Happy Birthday to a very shy but pleased David Eyre, and listening in awe to the words of wisdom and vulnerability of Dr Davis and Professor Davey. So many memories from the very beginning. Remember too all the excellent chapels: Sundar Krishnan, Bruxy Cavey, Preston Manning, Gordon Fee, Victor Shepherd, Michael Coren, and Mark Noll? I am continually grateful for the creativity, commitment, and excellence of all our chapel musicians and vocalists, especially for all that Jay, Stephanie, and Peter brought to chapels this year. It's really unbelievable how much talent we have here at Tyndale! I know from speaking with many of you how deeply and often God reached into your hearts during these and other times. His good work was evident everywhere this year!

We had an amazing year in the dorm too. From western suppers and midnight pancakes, to the Geriatric Night, Ernie's videos and announcements and times of worship and prayer and, of course, NORWALK, 2002-2003 will always be remembered. Our RAs were grace-filled servants and their dedication was inspiring: without Erin, Erika, Jess, Jill, Katy, Melissa, Steph, Charlie, Chris, Greg, Justin, Ian, Lloyd, and Sean our year would not have been so rich. And there were so many times through the year that I would stand back in absolute awe of the job and commitment of our Student Council leaders: Lindsay, Al, Sara, Ira, Sanda, Cindy, and Crystal along with all the other members were always thinking of how to make this place even better for every College student. I can't imagine what we would have done without these beautiful men and women of God. We were constantly blessed by their work and presence.

So from September with its melted ice cream to April and the fantastic Spring Banquet, it's been a good, good year. God has met us here and we have moved more deeply into the life of Christ through the Spirit's movement. Naturally because life is life there will be many new and exciting things that will come our way next year at Tyndale, but what will never change is that you've been part of something very special this year. And for that, let's give thanks to our God: Father, Son, and Holy Spirit for His abundance, grace, and for this community...Amen.

The clue that the year's almost over...pancake supper

Mark, is that a tatoos on your tongue?!?!?!?

yes, and then I said...

these are good pancakes eh?

you go to all this hard work and all they do is make faces? makes you feel for them eh?

free food? no wonder there's a line come on Kate, show us that smile!

G & T, thanks for the good times good spot to pick up eh?, and you said you just wanted to study don't you just love all of these happy faces?

I only ate here so that I could get my photo in the yearbook
